Chairman's Viewpoint

Club Matters

Our last meeting was the second of this season's rounds in the DPI competition which was judged by Darren Pullman. Bett Atherton again scooped the field with two top marks of 10 in the Advanced Class, her third image scoring 9.5 for good measure. In the Intermediate Class, Andrew Lewis also had two images which received 10 points, with Iggy Tavares also scoring 10 with one of his entries. Michael West was another who achieved two maximum marks of 10, this time in the Standard Class, where Caroline Avern achieved a top score for one of her photos. Congratulations to everyone.

Your Best Shot? – 27 November 2019

This is my first new lecture for a couple of years and fulfils a long held personal ambition. My first ever talk in 2008 was about composition, in which I spoke about how perception affects the way we represent our subjects. It has been well received on all the occasions I have given it. Ever since I wrote it, I have wanted to do a follow-up as there is much more to say on the topic. It has involved a lot of research and examines photography from a different perspective.

Confessions of a Landscape Photographer – Paul Mitchell – 4 December 2010

Paul Mitchell is both an excellent photographer and popular lecturer. He will be giving us a fully illustrated talk comprising both prints and DPI about his approach to landscape photography. Clear your diaries. This is definitely one presentation you will not want to miss.
