

Croydon Camera Club Newsletter – 16 February 2020

Chairman's Viewpoint

Our last meeting was a practical workshop with Andrew Dunsmore. It was a great success, with Andrew generously passing on a lot of his expertise. Our model for the evening was Caroline who was a willing and engaging subject. Our thanks go to both, as well as Emmanuel who lent his lighting equipment and background. On 5 March, we will see Caroline again when she returns with sister-in-law Holly to pose in their country and western costumes.

Last week also saw the semi-finals of the SLF monochrome print competition when we were competing against Carshalton. I am pleased to announce that we won comfortably with two of our images receiving certificates, including "Sentinel" by Steve Brooker. Congratulations, Steve.

Submissions close on 24 February for images submitted via PhotoEntry for possible inclusion in the forthcoming article about us which Amateur Photographer will be running. Croydon Advertiser will have its own piece and we shall also be sending them some of the images. If you have not yet posted anything, now is the time to do so. More details are at the link below.

Club Matters

Nature Competition for the David Eaves Trophy – 19 February 2020

This is our annual competition to find the best set of images of the natural world. The winner will be the photographer whose three images achieve the highest combined total score. The competition is for new work only and can be prints, DPI or a mixture. Entries can be reused subsequently in the monthly competitions and exhibition. Entry is via PhotoEntry as usual, with a closing date of midnight on Monday 17 February.

The judge will be Mick White LRPS.

There is a definition of definition of nature photography on the club's website.
