

Croydon Camera Club Newsletter – 3 May 2020

Chairman's Viewpoint

The first of our meetings featuring a presenter from beyond our immediate vicinity took place at our meeting last week. Nadin Dunnigan, from Scotland by way of the former East Germany, was knowledgeable and generous with information about life as a professional photographer. She has set the benchmark for the other lecturers from further afield who we have lined up for the remainder of this season.

We have now had a full month's worth of online meetings, with attendance on a par with those at the church hall. If there is anyone who would like to participate but is experiencing difficulties with the Zoom videoconferencing service, let me know at mgcfphoto@gmail.com and I will endeavour to help.

There is a new regular event in the club's calendar. The first was held earlier today and is "Sunday Afternoon Tea" at 3:30 pm. It is a chance to have a natter, show images or anything else people want to talk about. Best of all, the choice of beverage is all yours, made just the way you like it.

Club Matters

Members Evening – Trip to Skye – 6 May 2020

Back in those heady days of February, when it was possible to get on a plane and go to any place in the world, some intrepid club members ventured to the Isle of Skye in Scotland. It has the reputation of being one of the best locations anywhere for landscape photography. We have already seen a few images and tonight we will learn more about the trip from those who went.

An Evening with David Keith Jones – 13 May 2020

The second of our lecturers from beyond the South-East of England, David will take us on a journey first to Italy and, after the break, to Kenya where we will meet the nomadic tribes who live there.

DPI Competition 5th Round – 20 May 2020

We complete this season's DPI competition, with PhotoEntry now open for entries. Note that to allow time for the judge to preview the images, the closing date is slightly earlier than usual, being midnight on Saturday 16 May. The judge will be Cherry Larcombe, who will be making her first "Visit" to our club.
